9:00 a.m. - Starting the Engine: Overview of the Opportunistic Real Estate Landscape

Troy began with a review of the existing real assets portfolio structure followed by a review of the mandate. He highlighted the issues experienced by JP Morgan Special Situation Property Fund before turning to the two (2) candidate managers. Harrison Street Core Property Fund focuses on alternative real estate sectors (senior housing, student housing, storage centers, medical office space, etc.) whereas PGIM PRISA II invests in traditional core sectors (office, residential, industrial, and retail) while enhancing the portfolio with approximately a 20% allocation to the alternative sectors.

9:10 a.m. - Cruising Through Harrison Street: An interview of Mile Marker Distressed Assets

Marchese introduced himself and Davis followed with an overview of the firm. In total, Harrison Street manages over $109 billion of which $70 billion is in various real estate strategies and $9.5 billion net asset value is in the Core Property Fund. As a firm, Harrison Street is the third largest owner of student housing and the fourth largest owner of senior housing. Furthermore, the Core Property Fund is the largest open-end fund focused solely on alternative property types.

Davis then stated the Core Property Fund strategy attempts to take advantage of demographic trends and technological tailwinds. It is the largest fund of its kind focused on the real estate alternative sector. According to Davis, the core drivers of growth included student housing rentals, growth in the over 80 population, shortfalls in new construction, capital expenditures moving into data centers, and U.S. households needing storage units. The goal is to construct and manage a high-quality diversified portfolio of alternative investments delivering strong current income and opportunity for long-term growth while minimizing volatility. The fund targets 25%-30% loan-to-value with the current loan-to-value being 26.5% and an average investment size of $36 million. Currently the fund consists of 354 properties spread across 239 cities in 35 states, one of which is a medical office building in Tulsa. Since 2012, the fund has steadily expanded the investment opportunity set in an effort to provide balanced exposures while avoiding single-sector concentration risk. The hallmark of the Fund is low volatility and low correlation to traditional real estate sectors and the beta of the Fund being 0.5% when compared to the ODCE benchmark. The strategy has outperformed the benchmark on both a gross- and net-of-fees basis over the last 1-year, 3-year, 5-year, 10-year, and since inception periods. In addition, same-store net operating income growth was two times more than the ODCE benchmark from 2022 through 1st quarter 2026.

Davis summarized the Core Property Fund as being conviction investing with strong cashflows and fundamentally focused with a demonstrated track record. Together, Marchese and Davis thanked the Board for the opportunity to present the strategy.

10:00 a.m. - On the Road with PGIM: PRISA II Touring the Scenic Byway via RE Lane

Torres introduced himself and Gleason followed with an overview of the firm. The PGIM real estate investment platform manages $60 billion across seven (7) different fund strategies with 163 investment professionals in eight (8) different cities around the U.S. PGIM has a 56-year track record for managing real estate assets and they are ranked second out of 50 firms for real estate assets under management in the world.

Gleason next introduced the PRISA II strategy as focusing on income and growth in high conviction sectors. PRISA II was the first core plus U.S. open-end real estate fund established in 1980 with the goal of producing an 8%-11% net return over a full market cycle. Of the established target return, 50% is targeted to be derived from income and 50% is targeted to be derived from growth. To help manage risk, no single asset is more than 5% of the portfolio and no tenant is more than 20% of the fund. Holding a moderate amount of leverage, Gleason expressed leverage is typically less than 40% and is divided between 60% fixed rate debt and 40% floating rate debt. The portfolio is constructed to be approximately 65% stabilized assets and 35% value-added assets. The management team focuses on repositioning and development of value-added assets in high growth markets with the goal of upgrading them to stabilized assets to provide consistent income streams. The portfolio allocates 80% of the assets into living, logistics, and healthcare themes and 20% to office and retail themes. As expected, office and retail allocations have been reduced since the end of the pandemic. Gross and net returns have beat the ODCE benchmark over the last 1-year, 3-year, 5-year, 10-year, and since inception periods.

Themes in the portfolio center around the belief that aging baby boomers and millennials are creating significant demand for living and healthcare assets. In addition, digital transformation derived from e-commerce will materially change the need for logistics and healthcare assets. To exploit these themes, PRISA II examines demographic and tech driven trends to deploy best ideas in markets exhibiting strong population, job, and wage growth. Currently, near-term investment priorities are focused on senior housing, medical outpatient, suburban housing, and some industrial assets. Highlighting this focus, there is currently $2 billion worth of assets under development with 94% being dedicated towards living, logistics, and healthcare. The management team believes these high-quality assets will deliver strong appreciation over cost and higher lease-up rates as these assets are fully developed. Torres ended by thanking the board for the opportunity to present the strategy.

10:45 a.m. - Route Planning: Opportunistic RE Implementation Roadmap and Timeline

Troy began by reiterating that the goal of the interviews was to have a manager in place for future allocations as redemption proceeds are received from JP Morgan Special Situation Property Fund. He believed both managers could be a good fit for the core-plus mandate. The Board liked how Harrison Street had incorporated OkMRF's current real estate allocations into a pie chart displaying what potential sector allocations would look like if they were selected. Troy then pointed out the risk and return profile of Harrison Street would look completely different from other real estate managers.

11:00 a.m. - Rest Stop

11:15 a.m. - Under the Hood: DC Underlying Investment Lineup

Troy began by stating the plan objectives for the OkMRF DC lineup as being: maintain simplicity and ease of use for participants, provide quality options that allow participants to build diversified portfolios, limit overlap to avoid redundancies, and keep overall participant costs low. Troy went on to state OkMRF currently offers a well-diversified group of funds within the DC fund lineup covering major asset classes, including both passive and active investments, with low investment management fees. Troy then reviewed the core and satellite construction of the three (3) active equity white label options (Growth and Value, International, and Aggressive options) and showed performance versus their broad benchmarks followed by the white label fixed income option (Total Yield Bond Fund). Troy highlighted this option due to its significant outperformance over the benchmark for all time periods measured. He then reviewed the Real Assets Option and noted that one future Board consideration could be to create a white label option with specific allocations to underlying asset classes once the asset size is large enough. He then turned to the Target Retirement funds stating these options provide participants with great diversification of assets at a very low cost. Currently OkMRF offers eleven (11) fund options across the total DC fund lineup when counting the various Target Retirement Date series as a single option. This was lower than the national average of 17.5 fund options as reported by Vanguard defined contribution plans. However, participants in the same survey were found to use only 2.3 fund options on average. Cox reminded the Trustees that OkMRF also offers the self-directed brokerage account if a participant wants to go outside the existing investment lineup with up to 25% of their vested account balance. Troy stated the fund lineup is appropriate and provides participants with a good range of options.

Troy next reviewed the idea of adding a precious metals fund. He pointed out recent tailwinds for gold such as central bank purchasing of gold reserves, declining global interest rates, and recent conflicts as well as trade tariffs driving investors to safe-haven assets. Troy then pointed out that an increase in global economic growth, interest rates remaining higher for longer, and reductions of central bank gold purchases can all be significant risks for this asset. Troy then presented data showing that in times of economic uncertainty, precious metals can produce excellent returns. However, they are typically followed by long periods where the asset class substantially underperforms equity and fixed income markets. Troy ended by stating that due to the extremes in volatility and long periods of potential underperformance, ACG does not believe this should be a standalone investment option within the plan. Rives added that the DC fund lineup offers the Real Assets option which provides for diversification with investments across TIPS, commodities, and REITs, as opposed to a single investment option solely focused on precious metals that would not provide diversification. Participants desiring to access precious metals exclusively have the option to access this asset class through the self-directed brokerage account.

12:00 p.m. - Lunch: Afternoon drive with your OkMRF Family

12:45 p.m. - Toll Booth Check; Investment Fee Review

Troy reviewed the investment fees being paid by participants. The core and satellite portfolio construction in the active fund options couples a passive core index for fee reduction with active high-quality managers reducing the overall blended fee significantly. Of the eleven (11) OkMRF fund options, nine (9) of the option's fees are below the median national average, one (1) of the option's fees is at the median, and one does not charge a fee.

Cox reminded Trustees that ongoing annual fee reviews are necessary, as they are an important element of the insurance underwriter's evaluation of OkMRF.

1:15 p.m. - Cyber Task Force: Navigating Digital Highways and Avoiding Road Hazards

Croke opened the discussion by sharing his professional background and what led him to help lower international cyber threat actors. Croke then turned the meeting over to White who also provided some history of his professional background. To provide context, Cox gave a brief overview of the history of OkMRF, the role of the Board, the role of the Investment Manager, and functionality, and how we serve the cities and towns in Oklahoma. Cox also mentioned the importance of cyber security due to the OkMRF fiduciary responsibilities.

White then spoke to the different types of cybercrime including: hacktivism, crime, insider theft of data, espionage, terrorism, and warfare. He gave examples of organized cybercrime as business email compromise, automated clearing house fraud, spam, botnets, distributed denial of services, and underground markets. Examples of individual cybercrime included internet fraud, identity theft, and extortion. Croke then provided statistics on attacks and the number of cases. White followed up by adding organizations and companies have developed or purchased better tools to help detect fraud and illuminate threats. Croke added organizations and companies have stopped reporting cybercrime attempts that were not successful or when a loss was not suffered. White stated the most favorable way to report cybercrimes is through the Internet Crimes Complaint Center (IC3).

According to White, two of the biggest threats to organizations are business email compromise and ACH fraud. He stated cybercrime individuals will attempt to gain access to a company's email and impersonate a legitimate employee. White then gave several examples of effective tools that can be used to help eliminate these types of threats. He also stated there are more sophisticated ways in advanced technology to eliminate cyber threats. He gave examples of using voice or face recognition, or multi-factor identification methods. White discussed the IC3 Recovery Asset Team (RAT) can be very effective on recovering assets if the losses are reported in a timely manner.

White also discussed the threat of ransomware and gave examples of how cybercriminals try to steal a company's crucial information or data and hold the information ransom. He went on to state raising awareness through annual training can be a very effective tool to help eliminate cybercrime.

White noted the best defenses for organizations are creating backups for critical data, removing unnecessary programs, patching all software updates, and using long, complex passwords, a password manager, and dual factor authentication, when possible. White provided best practices/examples when it came to developing passwords.

White then provided steps to take in the event an organization has been victimized including contacting your financial institution immediately as time is of the essence. The faster a financial institution is notified, the faster they can attempt to stop a wire transfer or a transaction. Contacting the local FBI field office and filing a complaint with IC3 at www.ic3.gov can provide critical pieces of information to law enforcement. White recommends notifying IC3 even if there is no loss or fraud detected. In addition, White recommended organizations should partner with the Cybersecurity Infrastructure Security Agency (CISA). White noted CISA is not a law enforcement agency, but a federal government agency that focuses on assisting critical infrastructure, small governments, and businesses with their cybersecurity and physical security.

3:15 p.m. - Pit Stop

3:30 p.m. - Turbo Boost – Update on Private Equity Market and Our Roadmap for the Future

Rives discussed some of the fundamental differences between private equity and public equity. She presented the private equity commitment pacing plan demonstrating the goal is to have 5% of the portfolio devoted to private equity. She described how OkMRF is in the early stages of the investment cycle, and it may be several years before we start to see a return of cashflows. Troy then discussed the fundamental investment strategies for Warburg Pincus, Berkshire, and TrueBridge. Rives described ACG's cash flow modeling and how they consistently look for opportunities to invest. Moving forward, Rives stated ACG's goal is to build relationships with potentially six (6) money managers in the private equity space. Then as private equity approaches its full allocation, they will most likely recommend an increase to this portfolio weighting that will provide further diversification across this asset class.

6. Consideration and Possible Action Regarding Investment Committee Report

A. ACG: Review of Monthly ASAP Reports

Troy began with an economic overview stating that while it has been a good year in the marketplace through May 31st, it has been a volatile year. Through May, year-to-date returns for MSCI Emerging Markets have been over 25%, the S&P 500 up over 11%, and the Russell 2000 over 18%. Troy pointed out Bond markets are broadly flat when considering the year-to-date return resulting from the change in outlook for rates since the beginning of the year.

Turning to the DB plan, Troy reported that the total assets were at $926 million as of May 31, 2026, with the gross 10-year return of 9.51% exceeding the policy index by 0.36%. Troy highlighted the overall up-down capture is a positive note. He reported that when the overall market was up 100, the OkMRF portfolio tends to lag the market at 98.94. However, when the overall market is down 100, the OkMRF portfolio would “capture” 95.74 of the downturn. This means our portfolio offers more protection on the downside, while almost fully participating in the upside. The year-to-date net-of-fees return through May was 8.5%, beating the policy index by 31 basis points. Whereas the fiscal year-to-date return of 14.85% fell short of the policy index by approximately 2%. This underperformance was accounted for with three (3) managers (River Road, William Blair, and WCM) underperforming by 3.5% combined. Specifically, pertaining to River Road, they had reached out to ACG to propose a performance-based fee with the base fee being reduced to 60 bps. ACG does not recommend OkMRF move to a performance-based fee when there is an expectation of their outperformance in coming periods. Troy indicated River Road may potentially come back with another option for future consideration.

The fixed income holdings within the portfolio are at 6.5% net of fees over the past one-year period, and 6.3% over a three-year period. Troy expects to continue to see outperformance in this area as long as rates stay elevated. Real estate over the last year added an additional 2.05% net-of-fees to the portfolio. While income has stayed steady, appreciation has been challenging to find in real estate. There is an expectation that as the market picks up, real estate should provide higher returns. Troy also touched on private equity returns, demonstrating that the one-year annualized net of fees return is at 14.0%.

Moving to the defined contribution portfolio, Troy reported the options available to participants have been participating in this strong market. Troy presented the following one-year net returns for the following white label funds: Growth and Value option over 26%, Aggressive Equity option over 30%, International Equity option over 37%, and the Total Yield option over 6.4%. Troy touched on the PIMCO Real Assets fund as being over 18% return for the same time period. Troy summarized by giving a high-level review of the target date funds.

Important information

For more information about any fund, visit vanguard.com or call 866-499-8473 to obtain a prospectus or, if available, a summary prospectus. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information are contained in the prospectus; read and consider it carefully before investing.

Vanguard ETF® Shares are not redeemable with the issuing fund other than in very large aggregations worth millions of dollars. Instead, investors must buy or sell Vanguard ETF Shares in the secondary market and hold those shares in a brokerage account. In doing so, the investor may incur brokerage commissions and may pay more than net asset value when buying and receive less than net asset value when selling.

Mutual funds and all investments are subject to risk, including the possible loss of the money you invest. Prices of mid- and small-cap stocks often fluctuate more than those of large-company stocks. Investments in stocks or bonds issued by non-U.S. companies are subject to risks including country/regional risk and currency risk. These risks are especially high in emerging markets. Funds that concentrate on a relatively narrow sector face the risk of higher share-price volatility. It is possible that tax-managed funds will not meet their objective of being tax-efficient. Because company stock funds concentrate on a single stock, they are considered riskier than diversified stock funds.

Investments in bond funds are subject to the risk that an issuer will fail to make payments on time and that bond prices will decline because of rising interest rates or negative perceptions of an issuer's ability to make payments. High-yield bonds generally have medium- and lower-range credit quality ratings and are therefore subject to a higher level of credit risk than bonds with higher credit quality ratings. Municipal bond fund distributions, including any market discount recognized by the Fund's investments, may be taxable as ordinary income or capital gains. A majority of the income dividends that you receive from the Fund are expected to be exempt from federal income taxes. However, a portion of the Fund's distributions may be subject to federal, state, or local income taxes or the federal alternative minimum tax. You should consult your own tax advisor with respect to any particular U.S. or non-U.S. tax consequences of your investment in the Fund. Diversification does not ensure a profit or protect against a loss. There is no guarantee that any particular asset allocation or mix of funds will meet your investment objectives or provide you with a given level of income.

While U.S. Treasury or government agency securities provide substantial protection against credit risk, they do not protect investors against price changes due to changing interest rates. Unlike stocks and bonds, U.S. Treasury bills are guaranteed as to the timely payment of principal and interest.

Investments in Target Retirement Funds and Trusts are subject to the risks of their underlying funds. The year in the fund or trust name refers to the approximate year (the target date) when an investor in the fund or trust would retire and leave the workforce. The fund/trust will gradually shift its emphasis from more aggressive investments to more conservative ones based on its target date. The Income Trust/Fund and Income and Growth Trust have fixed investment allocations and are designed for investors who are already retired. An investment in a Target Retirement Fund or Trust is not guaranteed at any time, including on or after the target date.

Vanguard is responsible only for selecting the underlying funds and periodically rebalancing the holdings of target-date investments. The asset allocations Vanguard has selected for the Target Retirement Funds are based on our investment experience and are geared to the average investor. Investors should regularly check the asset mix of the option they choose to ensure it is appropriate for their current situation.

Vanguard collective trusts are not mutual funds. They are collective trusts available only to tax-qualified plans and their eligible participants. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information should be considered carefully before investing. The collective trust mandates are managed by Vanguard Fiduciary Trust Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of The Vanguard Group, Inc.

Tracking differences

The fund seeks to track its benchmark, but tracking differences can occur. The main sources of these differences are:

Expense ratio

- The fund's expense ratio is an ongoing contributor to tracking differences.

Securities lending

- Vanguard operates a very conservative securities lending program.
- Funds selectively lend "specials," not general collateral.
- All net revenue (net of broker rebates, direct operating expenses, and agent fees) is returned to portfolios.
- Program has rigorous risk controls and invests collateral in a high quality money market fund.

Other

- Index sampling differences.
- Use of futures.
- Index change management.
- Trading costs.
- Impact of NAV penny rounding.

Manager highlights

- Hotchkis & Wiley is focused on value investing through a disciplined, bottom-up investment process that emphasizes rigorous, internally generated fundamental research.
- The experienced investment team is split into six sector-specific groups.

Investment focus

| Asset class         | Investment style | Portfolio turnover (target range) | Number of holdings (target range) | Investment theme                                          |
|---------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|
| US equity large cap | Deep value       | 25%-40%                           | 50-80                             | The portfolio generally has deeper-value characteristics. |

Investment philosophy/process

- Hotchkis & Wiley believes that investors sometimes make irrational decisions, resulting in the mispricing of stocks and the opportunity to outperform the broad market.
- The advisor believes that value opportunities arise when the market extrapolates short-term trends into the future, while capital flows more often cause returns and profitability to revert to the mean.
- Potential investment ideas are generated through the use of various investment screens, with price/normalized earnings as the most commonly used measure.
- Price targets are based on an internally developed dividend discount model and estimates of a company's normalized earnings power.
- Risk assessment entails evaluating both financial and non-financial factors to predict a company's ability to survive temporary distress without impairing the long-term value of its franchise.

Key facts

- Headquartered in New York, New York.
- AUM of $122.2 billion as of December 31, 2025.

- M.B.A., New York University.

Manager highlights

- The experienced co-portfolio managers are supported by a credentialed team of investment analysts.
- Sanders takes a traditional, bottom-up fundamental research approach to identifying securities that are under-valued relative to their expected total return.

Investment focus

| Asset class         | Investment style | Portfolio turnover (target range) | Number of holdings (target range) | Investment theme                                                 |
|---------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------|
| US equity large cap | Value            | 20%–40%                           | 40–60 stocks                      | The focus is on larger-cap companies with attractive valuations. |

Investment philosophy/process

- The investment team adheres to the belief that investors systematically overreact to adversity, unduly depressing asset prices and producing investments with the opportunity for above-average returns.
- Sanders believes that value opportunities typically reside in areas of the market characterized by depressed conditions or threats to the sustainability of current earnings.
- The investment process begins with quantitative screens to identify stocks with high earnings or cash-flow potential relative to their prices.
- The co-portfolio managers then analyze the potential investments and assign research responsibilities to the broader team with the goal of determining if the issues depressing valuations are permanent or transitory.
- Research includes economic modeling at global and national levels, and predicting trends in profits and cash flows as well as supply and demand for assets.

Calendar-year performance

The performance data shown represent past performance, which is not a guarantee of future results. Investment returns and principal value will fluctuate, so investors’ shares, when sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost. Current performance may be lower or higher than the performance data cited. For performance data current to the most recent month-end, visit our website at vanguard.com/performance. The performance of an index is not an exact representation of any particular investment, as you cannot invest directly in an index.

Figures for periods of less than one year are cumulative returns. All other figures represent average annual returns. Performance figures include the reinvestment of all dividends and any capital gains distributions. All returns are net of expenses.

Important Information

For more information about Vanguard funds or Vanguard ETFs, visit institutional.vanguard.com or call 866-499-8473 to obtain a prospectus or, if available, a summary prospectus. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information are contained in the prospectus; read and consider it carefully before investing.

Vanguard ETF Shares are not redeemable with the issuing Fund other than in very large aggregations worth millions of dollars. Instead, investors must buy and sell Vanguard ETF Shares in the secondary market and hold those shares in a brokerage account. In doing so, the investor may incur brokerage commissions and may pay more than net asset value when buying and receive less than net asset value when selling.

Mutual funds and all investments are subject to risk, including the possible loss of the money you invest. Be aware that fluctuations in the financial markets and other factors may cause declines in the value of your account. There is no guarantee that any particular asset allocation or mix of funds will meet your investment objectives or provide you with a given level of income. Prices of mid- and small-cap stocks often fluctuate more than those of large-company stocks. Investments in stocks or bonds issued by non-U.S. companies are subject to risks including country/regional risk and currency risk. These risks are especially high in emerging markets. Funds that concentrate on a relatively narrow sector face the risk of higher share-price volatility. It is possible that tax-managed funds will not meet their objective of being tax-efficient. Because company stock funds concentrate on a single stock, they are considered riskier than diversified stock funds.

Investments in bond funds are subject to the risk that an issuer will fail to make payments on time and that bond prices will decline because of rising interest rates or negative perceptions of an issuer's ability to make payments. High-yield bonds generally have medium- and lower-range credit quality ratings and are therefore subject to a higher level of credit risk than bonds with higher credit quality ratings. Municipal bond fund distributions, including any market discount recognized by the Fund's investments, may be taxable as ordinary income or capital gains. A majority of the income dividends that you receive from the Fund are expected to be exempt from federal income taxes. However, a portion of the Fund's distributions may be subject to federal, state, or local income taxes or the federal alternative minimum tax. You should consult your own tax advisor with respect to any particular U.S. or non-U.S. tax consequences of your investment in the Fund. Diversification does not ensure a profit or protect against a loss.

While U.S. Treasury or government agency securities provide substantial protection against credit risk, they do not protect investors against price changes due to changing interest rates. Unlike stocks and bonds, U.S. Treasury bills are guaranteed as to the timely payment of principal and interest.

Investments in Target Retirement Funds and Trusts are subject to the risks of their underlying funds. The year in the fund or trust name refers to the approximate year (the target date) when an investor in the fund or trust would retire and leave the workforce. The fund/trust will gradually shift its emphasis from more aggressive investments to more conservative ones based on its target date. The Income Trust/Fund and Income and Growth Trust have fixed investment allocations and are designed for investors who are already retired. An investment in a Target Retirement Fund or Trust is not guaranteed at any time, including on or after the target date.

Vanguard is responsible only for selecting the underlying funds and periodically rebalancing the holdings of target-date investments. The asset allocations Vanguard has selected for the Target Retirement Funds are based on our investment experience and are geared to the average investor. Regularly check the asset mix of the option you choose to ensure it is appropriate for your current situation.

The Target Maturity ETFs (TMEs) are term funds that will liquidate in December of the year in each TME's name. During the 12 months prior to the planned liquidation date, each TME's yield generally will tend to move toward prevailing money market rates.

Each LifeStrategy Fund invests in four broadly diversified Vanguard funds and is subject to the risks associated with those underlying funds.

Vanguard collective trusts are not mutual funds. They are collective trusts available only to tax-qualified plans and their eligible participants. The collective trust mandates are managed by Vanguard Fiduciary Trust Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of The Vanguard Group, Inc. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information should be considered carefully before investing.

A stable value investment is neither insured nor guaranteed by the U.S. government. There is no assurance that the investment will be able to maintain a stable net asset value, and it is possible to lose money in such an investment.

The Factor Funds are subject to investment style risk, which is the chance that returns from the types of stocks in which a Factor Fund invests will trail returns from U.S. stock markets. The Factor Funds are also subject to manager risk, which is the chance that poor security selection will cause a Factor Fund to underperform its relevant benchmark or other funds with a similar investment objective, and sector risk, which is the chance that significant problems will affect a particular sector in which a Factor Fund invests, or that returns from that sector will trail returns from the overall stock market.

Important Information (continued)

Vanguard Commodity Strategy Fund could lose all, or substantially all, of its investments in instruments linked to the returns of commodity futures or other commodity investments. Commodity futures trading is volatile, and even a small movement in market prices could cause large losses. Investments in derivatives may involve risks different from, and possibly greater than, those of investments in the underlying securities or assets. Although inflation-indexed bonds seek to provide inflation protection, their prices may decline when interest rates rise and vice versa. The fund is subject to currency hedging risk, which is the chance that currency hedging transactions may not perfectly offset the fund's foreign currency exposures and may eliminate any chance for the fund to benefit from favorable fluctuations in relevant currency exchange rates. The fund will incur expenses to hedge its currency exposures.

ESG funds are subject to ESG investment risk, which is the chance that the stocks or bonds screened by the index provider or advisor, as applicable, for ESG criteria generally will underperform the market as a whole or, in the aggregate, will trail returns of other funds screened for ESG criteria. The index provider or advisor's assessment of a company, based on the company's level of involvement in a particular industry or their own ESG criteria, may differ from that of other funds or an investor's assessment of such company. As a result, the companies deemed eligible by the index provider or advisor may not reflect the beliefs and values of any particular investor and may not exhibit positive or favorable ESG characteristics. The evaluation of companies for ESG screening or integration is dependent on the timely and accurate reporting of ESG data by the companies. Successful application of the screens will depend on the index provider or advisor's proper identification and analysis of ESG data. The advisor may not be successful in assessing and identifying companies that have or will have a positive impact or support a given position. In some circumstances, companies could ultimately have a negative or no impact or support of a given position.

Vanguard's active equity value proposition

Investor challenge

Identifying and accessing top-tier investment managers.

Active equity funds often come with higher fees, which can erode returns.

Periods of prolonged underperformance can test the patience of investors.

Vanguard response

We apply a disciplined, repeatable process to evaluate and identify talented managers.

We access world-class talent with fees aligned to client outcomes.

We take a long-term view through inevitable cycles.

Our disciplined oversight and manager selection process centers on the drivers of long-term success

To determine if active managers have a differentiated edge, we employ a framework that aims to:

Identify what market
inefficiencies exist

2

Understand how an investment strategy will seek to exploit the inefficiencies

3

Determine why
an investment
strategy and team should outperform
over the long term

Create custom quantitative reporting to determine if the manager has skill

Our framework for evaluating current and prospective managers emphasizes qualitative criteria, not short-term performance

Notes: The chart plots Vanguard's active equity funds by expense ratio and Morningstar's fee level percentile rank, which compares a fund's fees with those of similar investment vehicles. Each bubble represents a fund. The chart excludes Vanguard Market Neutral Fund, which has an expense ratio of 1.8%. Excluding the effect of expenses attributable to borrowing and dividend expenses on short sales, the fund's total annual operating expense ratio would be 0.20%.

Past performance is no guarantee of future returns. The performance of an index is not an exact representation of any particular investment, as you cannot invest directly in an index.

Source: Vanguard Investment Advisory Research Center analysis using data from Morningstar, as of December 31, 2025.

Notes: The performance of each Vanguard and non-Vanguard fund was compared with that of its benchmark as defined by Morningstar using monthly return data ended December 31, 2024. The monthly returns for all Vanguard active equity and fixed-income funds, including those that were merged or liquidated during the period, were included in the performance calculations. Vanguard balanced funds were excluded. Annualized asset-weighted excess returns were generated by calculating the asset-weighted cross-sectional monthly returns for Vanguard funds and the appropriate benchmarks and then a 1-year return series for both was generated and then excess returns were calculated by taking the difference between the two return series. The rolling annualized asset-weighted excess return calculation was repeated for non-Vanguard funds in the fund categories where Vanguard had products. Fund categories were included once Vanguard had a product in that category. All fund performance data are net of fund expense ratio.

Batting average is calculated by taking the number of periods that the fund outperforms (or matches) the benchmark divided by the total number of periods.

Analysis and research created by Vanguard Investment Advisory Research Center

Source: Vanguard calculations, using data from Morningstar, Inc. Fund performance and Vanguard cost advantage calculation are as of December 31, 2025.

.Notes: The performance of each Vanguard and non-Vanguard fund was compared with that of its benchmark as defined by Morningstar using monthly return data ended December 31, 2024. The monthly returns for all Vanguard active equity funds, including those that were merged or liquidated during the period, were included in the performance calculations. The active equity portions of Vanguard balanced funds were excluded. Annualized asset-weighted excess returns were generated by calculating the asset-weighted cross-section monthly returns and then generating a time series set of returns. All fund performance data are net of fund expense ratios. Cost advantage is measured as the asset-weighted expense ratio differential between Vanguard and non-Vanguard equity funds used in the analysis.

Our approach to manager structure

We believe in both single manager and multimanager approaches. We decide case by case, considering the strategy's nuances and our partners' unique attributes.

The decision about fund structure is made on a fund-by-fund basis

Single manager strategy

May be used for specialized funds that employ distinct approaches

Multimanager strategy

May be used when an opportunity exists to combine managers with complementary approaches

In either case, Vanguard must have a high level of conviction in a manager's ability to add value over the long term.

- ✓ Close collaboration, frequent communication, and constructive debate drives strategic decision-making.

Specialization: Fosters comprehensive knowledge of firms and investment strategies

Collaboration: Meet six times per year to deliberate potential managers

Common philosophy

Our approach to search is evergreen and strives to identify top talent well before a need arises

Tools and technology

eVestment: Screening for new ideas and initial research on an investment strategy

FactSet: Deep due diligence, performance attribution, and quantifying edge

Anatomy of Search: Global Equity Fund

1   Evergreen global bench

We sought to refamiliarize ourselves with the tiered manager bench across all search universes, not just our global managers, by conducting portfolio and performance analysis.

We set up interactions to ensure our opinion of the strongest bench candidates' edge was intact.

2   Screen review

To ensure our bench captured the best global managers, we ran a screen to uncover potential uncovered talent. For those deemed possible partners, we scheduled interactions and ran portfolio analytics to discern edge.

We continued to meet with those who met our criteria to ensure alignment.

3   Leadership interactions

Of those ideas identified on the screen and bench review, we brought forward 14 strategies to meet with Vanguard's head of Oversight and Manager Search. This included prioritized site visits.

Site visits offer insights into a firm's culture, team alignment with philosophy, process, and depth of talent.

4   Manager oversight committee

We moved four finalists to meet with our Manager Oversight Committee, three of which were new strategies to the committee and one we partnered with on other domestic and emerging markets mandates.

Those interactions helped create the Global Investment Committee and Board of Directors recommendation of pairing two of the finalists.

Important information

For more information about any fund, visit vanguard.com or call 866-499-8473 to obtain a prospectus or, if available, a summary prospectus. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information are contained in the prospectus; read and consider it carefully before investing.

Vanguard ETF® Shares are not redeemable with the issuing fund other than in very large aggregations worth millions of dollars. Instead, investors must buy or sell Vanguard ETF Shares in the secondary market and hold those shares in a brokerage account. In doing so, the investor may incur brokerage commissions and may pay more than net asset value when buying and receive less than net asset value when selling.

Mutual funds and all investments are subject to risk, including the possible loss of the money you invest. Prices of mid- and small-cap stocks often fluctuate more than those of large-company stocks. Investments in stocks or bonds issued by non-U.S. companies are subject to risks including country/regional risk and currency risk. These risks are especially high in emerging markets. Funds that concentrate on a relatively narrow sector face the risk of higher share-price volatility. It is possible that tax-managed funds will not meet their objective of being tax-efficient. Because company stock funds concentrate on a single stock, they are considered riskier than diversified stock funds.

Investments in bond funds are subject to the risk that an issuer will fail to make payments on time and that bond prices will decline because of rising interest rates or negative perceptions of an issuer's ability to make payments. High-yield bonds generally have medium- and lower-range credit quality ratings and are therefore subject to a higher level of credit risk than bonds with higher credit quality ratings. Municipal bond fund distributions, including any market discount recognized by the Fund's investments, may be taxable as ordinary income or capital gains. A majority of the income dividends that you receive from the Fund are expected to be exempt from federal income taxes. However, a portion of the Fund's distributions may be subject to federal, state, or local income taxes or the federal alternative minimum tax. You should consult your own tax advisor with respect to any particular U.S. or non-U.S. tax consequences of your investment in the Fund. Diversification does not ensure a profit or protect against a loss. There is no guarantee that any particular asset allocation or mix of funds will meet your investment objectives or provide you with a given level of income.

While U.S. Treasury or government agency securities provide substantial protection against credit risk, they do not protect investors against price changes due to changing interest rates. Unlike stocks and bonds, U.S. Treasury bills are guaranteed as to the timely payment of principal and interest.

Investments in Target Retirement Funds and Trusts are subject to the risks of their underlying funds. The year in the fund or trust name refers to the approximate year (the target date) when an investor in the fund or trust would retire and leave the workforce. The fund/trust will gradually shift its emphasis from more aggressive investments to more conservative ones based on its target date. The Income Trust/Fund and Income and Growth Trust have fixed investment allocations and are designed for investors who are already retired. An investment in a Target Retirement Fund or Trust is not guaranteed at any time, including on or after the target date.

Vanguard is responsible only for selecting the underlying funds and periodically rebalancing the holdings of target-date investments. The asset allocations Vanguard has selected for the Target Retirement Funds are based on our investment experience and are geared to the average investor. Investors should regularly check the asset mix of the option they choose to ensure it is appropriate for their current situation.

Vanguard collective trusts are not mutual funds. They are collective trusts available only to tax-qualified plans and their eligible participants. Investment objectives, risks, charges, expenses, and other important information should be considered carefully before investing. The collective trust mandates are managed by Vanguard Fiduciary Trust Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of The Vanguard Group, Inc.

The Factor Funds are subject to investment style risk, which is the chance that returns from the types of stocks in which a Factor Fund invests will trail returns from U.S. stock markets. The Factor Funds are also subject to manager risk, which is the chance that poor security selection will cause a Factor Fund to underperform its relevant benchmark or other funds with a similar investment objective, and sector risk, which is the chance that significant problems will affect a particular sector in which a Factor Fund invests, or that returns from that sector will trail returns from the overall stock market.

ACG has been named a
Coalition Greenwich Best Investment Consultant
for eight consecutive years.

Methodology and Disclosure: Between February and September 2024, Coalition Greenwich conducted interviews with 699 individuals from 563 of the largest tax-exempt funds in the United States. These U.S.-based institutional investors are corporate, public, union, and endowment and foundation funds with either pension or investment pool assets greater than $150 million. Study participants were asked to provide quantitative and qualitative evaluations of their asset management and investment consulting providers, including qualitative assessments of those firms soliciting their business and detailed information on important market trends. ACG is one of three firms recognized in the mid-size investment consultant category. The ratings may not be representative of any one client's experience with ACG; rather they are representative of those clients that chose to participate in the survey. The results are not indicative of ACG's future performance. ACG does not pay to have its clients participate in the study.

Global equities rallied in the second quarter as markets looked through continued geopolitical turbulence. The rebound was largely driven by upwardly revised earnings estimates, particularly in sectors and regions with exposure to the AI investment cycle. Fixed income lagged as rising yields caused by elevated oil prices and growing inflation weighed on government bonds.

Significant market drawdowns are common, even in years that end up positive. Large rallies often follow large drawdowns, as was again the case in recent years, as the S&P 500 rebounded from 2022's negative performance.

The threat of higher oil prices for an extended period has sent shorter-term inflation expectations higher, reducing the outlook for central bank rate cuts and producing a corresponding increase in sovereign yields. Credit spreads rose briefly but have since declined as the market's outlook continues to be for the economy to weather the disruption and avoid recession.

ACG has been named a
for eight consecutive years.

Methodology and Disclosure: Between February and September 2024, Coalition Greenwich conducted interviews with 699 individuals from 563 of the largest tax-exempt funds in the United States. These U.S.-based institutional investors are corporate, public, union, and endowment and foundation funds with either pension or investment pool assets greater than $150 million. Study participants were asked to provide quantitative and qualitative evaluations of their asset management and investment consulting providers, including qualitative assessments of those firms soliciting their business and detailed information on important market trends. ACG is one of three firms recognized in the mid-size investment consultant category. The ratings may not be representative of any one client's experience with ACG; rather they are representative of those clients that chose to participate in the survey. The results are not indicative of ACG's future performance. ACG does not pay to have its clients participate in the study.
